

SHEDS, CARPORTS, GARAGES AND “OUT BUILDINGS”

Garages, sheds, carports, and other buildings, even swimming pools, are considered accessory structures. There two basic types of accessory buildings – attached or detached. Attached accessory buildings are those which are physically attached to the home. A typical example is an attached garage or an attached carport. Detached accessory structures are sheds, or other such structures which are not physically attached to the dwelling. All accessory structures require a building permit and zoning permit.

- All attached accessory buildings, including carports, shall be treated just like the main building or dwelling
- All detached accessory buildings shall be at least ten (10) feet to any other structure on the lot.
- All accessory buildings shall be at least ten (10) feet from a side or rear lot line.
- No accessory building can occupy more than 25% of the rear of any yard; no accessory building or structure can exceed the floor area of the principal building.
- Detached accessory structures in residential districts cannot exceed one story or 17 feet. Detached accessory structure in nonresidential districts are permitted to whatever the permitted height is in the district.
- No accessory building is permitted in the front yard.
- Except for agricultural buildings, no accessory building is permitted prior to the establishment of a principal structure.
